Safety at Sea Survival Course:

The team at ORCV would like to invite members of Safety Beach Sailing Club to participate in the next Survival and Sea Safety Course, scheduled on May 25th and 26th at Wesley College. If you are interested in and wanting to take the plunge into ocean racing, or even just sailing beyond the bay into open ocean, this course will give you the skills and knowledge to ensure you stay safe sailing at sea.

Delivered over two days, consisting of theory and practical work, participants will learn strategies for emergency prevention and familiarize themselves with the equipment and tools in a safe, controlled environment.

Alternatively, if your qualifications are about to expire, we also offer a one-day revalidation course on May 26th, to keep qualifications and knowledge up to date!

If you are interested, want further information or wish to register, please see the link below.
